Polio Takes Life Of Mrs. Kaeding, 41

... County's 1st '59 Victim, State's 5th

Mrs. Mayme Ellen Kaeding, 41, of 231 No. 1st, died Sunday of polio. She was Lancaster County's first polio victim and the fifth in the state.

Mrs. Kaeding had been hospitalized since June 18th when she was brought in with an acute stage of the disease. Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Umbergers Chapel. Elder W. H. Elder Jr. will officiate and burial will be in Wyuka. Mrs. Kaeding had been a Lincoln resident since 1942 and was an employee of Smith-Dorsey Chemical Co. She was a member of the Lincoln Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Surviving is her husband, Andrew Kaeding.

Fourth Shot Urged Here

Victim's Husband Stresses Value

A fourth Salk polio vaccine shot was urged by state and local officials Sunday as the polio death rate in Nebraska exceeded that of June, 1952, the year of the state's worst polio outbreak.

Mrs. Mayme Ellen Kaeding, 41, of Lincoln became the state's fifth polio death Sunday. There were only two polio deaths by the end of June, 1952, the year that 110 died in Nebraska of the disease.

Andrew Kaeding, husband of the most recent victim, urged people to get their Salk shots.

"My wife had two shots, but if she had had the third and fourth her resistance would have been built up and the illness wouldn't have been so bad," he said.

"Until we know how long it is going to last, people should have one Salk 'booster' shot each year," according to Dr. George Underwood, city-county health director.

Clinton Belknap, Nebraska's National Foundation representative, said that the National foundation has not yet taken an official stand on the fourth shot because "we are still concerned about people getting the first three shots."

U.S. Leaders Urge Curbs On Inflation

Washington (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon warned Sunday night of a "serious risk" of further price rises and urged the Democratic Congress anew to approve the administration's inflation curbs.

Nixon's special cabinet committee on "price stability" submitted an interim report to the President asserting that the nation now is at a "critical juncture" because of inflationary pressures and congressional sentiment for "irresponsible spending."

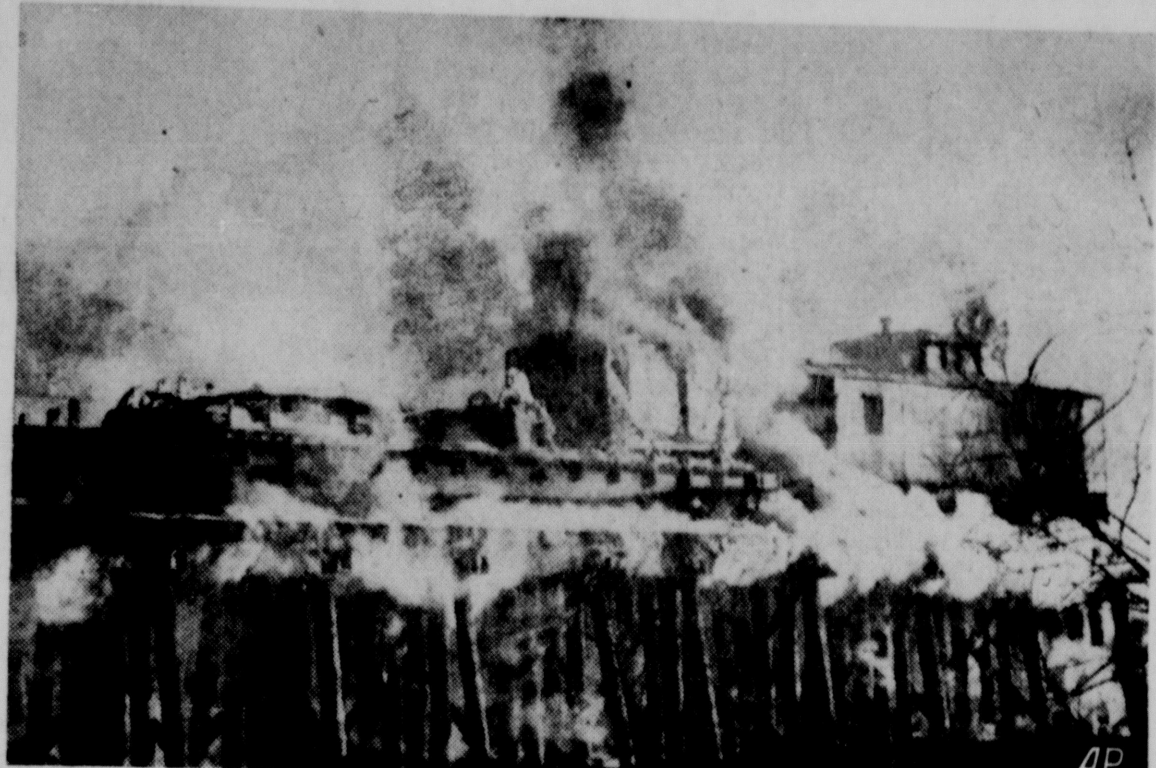

On the optimistic side, the report hinted that some tax relief "can perhaps be realized soon." But it gave no details except to note that "studies are now under way with a view to proposing changes in our tax laws at the appropriate time."

Pass The Buck

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) immediately summed up the general reaction of his party by accusing the President of trying to blame Congress for his own administration's policies.

McCormack said Congress consistently had voted less money than Eisenhower sought and added: "We will do so again this year."

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) called the Nixon report a continuation of GOP efforts "to scare people... and pin the spending label unjustifiably on the Democratic Congress" in hopes of winning the 1960 elections.

AFTERMATH OF EXPLOSION

Flames and smoke engulf a shattered train and trestle following the explosion Sunday of two tankcars of butane gas.

The accident brought death to at least 14 among the Sunday crowd and injury to more than a score of others.

Road Accidents Kill 4

... Deaths Of 3 Nebraskans, Illinoisan Boost State Toll For Year To 142

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents took 4 lives in Nebraska Sunday, bringing the state's toll for the year to 142 compared to 145 a year ago.

The victims:

Sharon Heinz, 16, Fairmont, Neb.

Mrs. Jonas Schroeder, Rising City farm woman.

William R. Rogers, 20, Davis, Ill.

James Zumpfe, 17, Friend. The Heinz girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heinz, was thrown from a car as it rolled 3 times when it left the highway 3 miles east of McCool Junction, Sheriff Lewis Eckart said.

The sheriff said the driver of the car, Gary Hiett, 18, of York did not have a driver's license.

He said skid marks indicated the car traveled 394 feet sideways.

Miss Heinz is survived by her parents, three sisters and two brothers, including a brother Vernon of Lincoln and a sister Jane, at home. Another sister arrived in New York Sunday on a return trip from Germany.

On Way To Church

Mrs. Schroeder and her two children were on their way to church in a car driven by her husband when it was in collision with a car driven by a Lutheran minister, Sheriff Joseph Meysenberg said.

The Minister, the Rev. Alen D. Capek, 28, Rising City, was reported in serious condition in a David City hospital. Schroeder, 47, was in the same hospital less seriously hurt. Alan Schroeder, 12, was treated and released. Sandra, his 15-year-old sister, was transferred to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Lincoln, where she was in fair condition.

The sheriff said the Rev. Mr. Capek served two churches and was driving from one to the other at the time of the accident about 4 miles east of Rising City on a county road.

Car-Truck

A cattle truck-auto collision on U.S. 30 about 3 miles east of North Bend took the life of 20-year-old Rogers.

The car carrying Rogers and two other Illinois youths was in a sideswipe collision with a truck driven by Roland R. Christensen of St. Paul, Neb., on an "S" curve. Christensen escaped injury.

Kenneth Wilkinson, 20, of Rockford, Ill., was unconscious and in critical condition at the Dodge County Community Hospital in Fremont. Robert La Furge, 21, of

Gas-Filled Tank Cars Explode, Spewing Fire

... Fatalities Expected To Mount

Meltrim, Ga. (UPI)—Two butane-filled railroad tank cars exploded on a trestle and spewed fire and death over a carefree crowd of bathers and boaters at a river beach Sunday. At least 14 persons were killed and more than a score injured.

Authorities feared that other bodies might be found in the wreckage beneath the twisted, fire-blackened trestle spanning the Ogeechee River at the site of a popular south Georgia resort. Hundreds had gathered there to seek relief from 100-degree heat.

Many died at the scene as the first tank car caught fire, apparently from an overheated journal box, and broke open releasing the liquefied gas under tremendous pressure. Fire spurted hundreds of yards, splashing blue flame and searing heat over the river and along the beach on both sides of the trestle.

Second Explosion

The second tank car exploded minutes later, adding to the holocaust created by the first explosion. The blasts broke apart the 124-car Seaboard Airline freight train and demolished the wooden trestle. Two trainmen were among the injured.

The sweep of flame covered the beach area and 9 automobiles parked near the shore were burned. At least two occupants of the cars perished. Nearby woods were set afire by the flame and burned into the night.

The injured screamed in pain and fear, and survivors called for relatives and friends. A pall of smoke covered the scene.

A number succumbed en route to hospitals at Savannah, Ga., 18 miles away. Ambulances sped to the scene over emergency highway routes and helicopters removed several victims to Hunter AFB at Savannah.

Grim Search

Doctors and attendants worked swiftly at crowded emergency wards, treating burns and administering blood and plasma. Frantic relatives of victims went from hospital to hospital before turning to the morgues in search of missing kin.

Some of the injured were unconscious and could not be identified because of their terrible burns. Doctors estimated that at least 9 additional burn victims might die from their injuries.

Search lights were set up at the scene, and skin divers hunted the river for more victims.

Many swimmers were directly beneath the trestle when the train roared across.

It was two hours after the explosion before the area had cooled off sufficiently to permit rescue teams to enter.

Screams Of Injured

The hospitals were scenes of horror.

A mother, burned over her face and shoulders, ran screaming down the corridor of Memorial Hospital in Savannah.

"I want my little boy," she cried.

Doctors told her her son was dead.

Miss Nielsen Named Iowa Beauty Entry

... '58 Miss Nebraska

Arnold's Park, (P) — A 22-year-old honey blonde beauty from Council Bluffs was named Miss Iowa Sunday night in competition for the Miss Universe title.

She is Kay Nielsen, a graduate of the University of Nebraska who last year was named Miss Nebraska in connection with the Miss America contest.

Miss Nielsen is 5 feet 6, and measures 36-24-34.

She will compete in the Miss Universe contest in Long Beach, Calif., next month.

Divorce Is Eyed By Long

Winnfield, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl Long sized himself up Sunday as the "best damned governor Louisiana ever had," and announced that he is going to divorce his wife Blanche.

Long, 63, announced his divorce intentions at a press conference on the back porch of his tin-roofed frame home on the outskirts of Winnfield.

"She raised more hell than the man who fired the shot heard 'round the world," Long said as a somewhat nervous psychiatrist sat beside him and plucked at his sleeve.

Mrs. Long committed him to two mental hospitals and made him agree to enter a third as a condition to getting out of one of the others.

"I've put up with her as long as I can and I'm going to get a divorce now," Long said. "I'd have gotten a divorce long ago if I hadn't been in politics."

Long arrived Saturday night at his "little pea patch," a pet name for his farm.

Mrs. Long is reported to have fled the state and may be in Mexico. She was understood to have foreseen the governor's using his executive powers to get out of the mental hospital and fled for fear he would try to get even with her for committing him.

Firemen Will Ask $50 Across-Board Pay Hike

... Police Expected To Try For Same

By Del Harding

City firemen will ask the City Council for $50 a month across-the-board pay increases for all firemen for the coming fiscal year, The Star learned Sunday.

It is understood that the same increase will also be requested for all city policemen.

Both departments reportedly will also ask establishment of a longevity plan, whereby after each 5 years service a man would receive a $10 a month pay boost. The maximum would be 3 such raises, or a total of $30 a month longevity pay after 15 years service.

Start At $285

Firemen now receive a starting monthly wage of $285. They work 24-hour shifts or a total of 72 hours a week.

Policemen start at $302.50 and are on a 6-day, 48-hour week.

The only raises firemen and policemen received last year were the $7.50 a month hike which went to all city employees.

A spokesman for the firemen said a 5-state survey showed that Lincoln's fire fighters are the lowest paid among the 15 cities surveyed. The 15 cities studied are the largest in the 5 states that have paid fire departments, he said.

Said Below Average

A Lincoln fireman holding the rank of 1st Class Fireman (the majority are in this pay grade) receives an average of $72.05 less per month than firemen of the same rank in the 15 cities studied, the spokesman said.

Both Lincoln's fire and police departments have had a high turnover rate in recent years.

One fireman with 13 years on the department left in 1957 to accept a higher-paid position as a janitor.

Firemen released this table of salaries, which they said was taken from pamphlet published by the International Assn. of Fire Fighters:

Kremlin Protest

On Berlin Vote

Draws U.S. Fire

Washington (P)—A Soviet note protesting against the holding of the West German presidential elections in West Berlin was branded by the State Department Sunday as "a further Soviet attempt to interfere in the internal affairs of the German Federal Republic."

The Germans Bundestag

will elect the successor of President Theodore Heuss in West Berlin next Wednesday. East German Communist Party leaders called the decision "a deliberate demonstration that would boom."

Last Friday, the Soviet Union sent a note of protest to the American embassy in Moscow. Its contents became known here Sunday.

The note said Russia "considers the conducting of these elections in West Berlin as a new attempt to use the current abnormal situation in the city to inflame even more the situation in Germany."

Search Narrows For Bodies Of 9 In Mystery Plane

Wiesbaden, Germany (UPI)—A 3-week investigation by an American search team has revived hope that the bodies of 9 U.S. airmen whose B-24 bomber crashed in the Libyan desert 16 years ago may be found, U.S. Air Force headquarters here reported Sunday.

The investigation indicated that all 9 men parachuted safely from their crippled plane after a World War II mission but perished in the burning desert while trying to reach civilization.

According to the report issued here, a special U.S. Army mortuary service team returned to Wheelus Air Base in Libya with information that the unidentified remains of "about 10 persons" were known to lie in an area north of where its 3-week search ended.

Trail Indicated
The team discovered a "marker" trail of boots, parachutes and other flight gear extending northward from the site of the crash, 440 miles southeast of Benghazi. The trail led toward the area where the remains were said to be located.

The new evidence, the Air Force report said, revived "hope that the bodies... may be found."

It was assumed here that the second phase of the search, involving helicopters and possibly bigger teams, would begin soon.

The Air Force said the search team made the following points in its report on the first phase of the search.

—The airmen bailed out safely when their Liberator bomber, "Lady Be Good," crashed on April 3, 1943, returning from a mission against Naples.

—The crew members made contact with one another on the ground, possibly in response to pistol shots, and set out together on a grim trek north, hoping to reach a U.S. outpost on the rim of the desert.

Hunt Will Give $20,000 To NU Dental College

A gift of $20,000 from the estate of Loren T. Hunt of Lincoln has been received by the University of Nebraska Foundation. Perry W. Branch, director-secretary, announced today.

His will stipulates that the income should be used in the College of Dentistry for: scholarships for upperclass males who are in the upper 25 per cent of their class; graduate fellowships for basic or industrial research strengthening faculty competence; and purchase of specialized equipment.

The fund will be known as the "Edgar and Minnie Hunt Memorial Fund," in commemoration of the parents of the late Dr. Hunt, who practiced dentistry in Lincoln for 40 years. He was a 1915 graduate of the College of Dentistry and also served on its faculty.

Dr. Hunt, who died in 1956, was past president of Nebraska Dental Association and Fellow in American College of Dentistry.

West Troops Blasted

Berlin (AP)—Monitors report the Soviet Army's radio station in East Germany is plugging a hate campaign directed at French, British and U.S. troops stationed in West Berlin. They say the broadcasts contend most Allied troops in Berlin are men who entered military service to satisfy "their lust for murder and robbery."

Scouts Return From Long Hike

Twenty nine tired boy scouts ranging in age from 11-14 arrived in Lincoln Saturday after hiking 60 miles along the Oregon Trail from Oak to Ayr. According to Dennis J. Sherman, assistant leader of the troop, No. 51, this was the largest, youngest group of boy scouts in the state to undertake such a long trip. Although 42 boys started out from Oak, by Wednesday morning 13 had been brought back to Lincoln early because of blisters and fatigue. Pictured above are W. O. Shriner, scoutmaster, his daughter Lory, Jimmy Hesson, and his sister Yvonne. (Star Photo.)

Philippine Student's Definition:

American Life—'The Big Hurry'

By Sam Hall
"The big hurry."
That's the definition that Art Sali, 17-year-old foreign exchange student from the Philippine Islands, has applied to the American way of life.

"And I like the big hurry—Americans' quick way of doing things," said little Art. "It was hard to adjust to at first, but after a year of hurrying I got used to it."

Art and 6 other American Field Service exchange students who have spent the past year in the Midwest were guests at the Dwight Cherry residence, 3481 Anaheim Dr., for a swimming party and picnic supper.

High Standard, Friendliness
When asked what aspect of American life they were most impressed with during their stay here, nearly all commented on the high standard of living and the friendliness of the people.

The democratic family caught the fancy of a Greek lad, Andy Papachristopoulos, 18, of Athens said that he liked the close friendship between parents and children. "There is more freedom in the American family," said Andy, who hopes to return to the United States and study.

Donato Speroni, 17, of Milan, Italy said, "The real typical American is found in the Midwest." Donato, who has aspirations of becoming a physician, added that Europeans immediately think of New York and Hollywood at the mention of America.

Favors Dating System

Frenchman Henry Chardigny, 18, of Macon listed the friendship of the teenagers as his number one impression. Henry is all for the American dating system. "All you have to do is pick up the phone, and say, 'What are you doing tonight?'" The group agreed that going steady was "silly."

Jan H. Meerdink, 18-year-old Hollander said that American girls mature earlier. The French boy, Henry, interrupted to say, "They're not necessarily more mature, just more sophisticated." "I was most impressed with the high standard of living in the U.S.," Jan added.

"The American comfort—big cars, big houses" were most prominent in the mind of Joe Escoffier, 18, of Lyons, France. Fred Ambrosini, 18, of Esch, Luxembourg liked the friendliness of the people.

The 7 along with 22 other foreign students, will leave Lincoln by bus Wednesday on the first leg of their journey home. In the meantime, Lincoln will play host to the group.

Tea With Brooks

During their stay here the group will tour the Capitol, visit the Supreme Court, have tea with Gov. Ralph G. Brooks and tour Lincoln Air Force Base.

On Wednesday, the entire AFS group will leave from Antelope Park Dance Pavilion on the bus tour which will take them to Washington, D.C., where they will hear a talk by President Eisenhower before going to New York and then on to their homelands.

All of the students expressed a deep desire to remain in America, but, on the other hand, all are anxious to return home.

Donato Speroni of Italy said that after he finishes his studies in Europe, "I want to return to America, where the opportunity is greatest."

Taft-Hartley Revision Bill Is Proposed

Washington (AP)—Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) Sunday proposed a one-package revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law as a solution to the near deadlock in House efforts to write a labor-management controls bill.

Ayres is a member of the House Labor Committee.

His plan to offer a straight Taft-Hartley revision bill as a substitute for bills now before the committee is certain to run into opposition from Democratic leaders.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) is putting the heat on Democrats to avoid a Taft-Hartley battle by bringing out a bill limited to anti-racketeering curbs.

Ayres said, however, the issue now is as much one of labor union power as labor union corruption. His approach, he said, would have no effect on honest unions and their officials.

Ayres said his bill would deal with both curbs on secondary boycotts and picketing, although he conceded they would not be acceptable to most labor unions. He said his proposal also would emphasize secret balloting of union affairs as a method of allowing members to conduct their own cleanup.

Milk Prices Cut By Denver Stores

Denver, Colo. (AP)—A milk price war has broken out in Denver, touched off by a 4c a quart cut in prices at supermarkets.

Some dairies are joining in. Others say they will have to meet the cuts this week unless prices are restored.

The supermarkets slashed their price from 24c a quart to 20c last Thursday. At least two dairies cut the price on milk delivered at homes from 25c a quart to 21c Saturday.

Fusion Atom Energy Eyed In Tractors

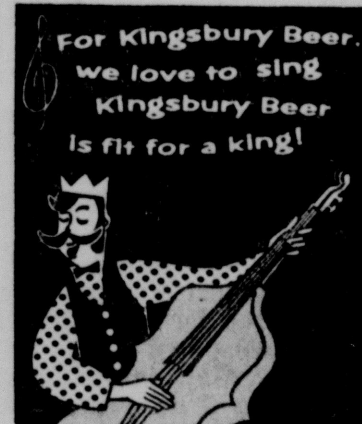

The farmer of the future may be operating tractors powered by fusion atomic energy, the research director of a national firm believes.

Dr. Finn J. Larsen made this prediction at the regional meeting of the National Assn., of Television and Radio Farm Directors held recently in Minneapolis, Minn.

Fusion, he said, is the combining of lighter elements rather than the breaking up of heavy atoms, such as uranium, in the fission process.

"The fusion process is in a stage of development comparable to a period of more than 20 years ago in the fission type of nuclear power," Larsen said.

"It will undoubtedly take a long time to solve some of the difficult problems in obtaining widespread use of fusion energy."

Arabian Prince Who Killed Self 'Had Everything' Litter Law Draws Fire Of Pacifists

... But Was Psychiatric Patient

Miami, Fla. (UPI) — A lonely Arabian prince, who turned himself into a human torch Saturday night, had been undergoing psychiatric treatment for several weeks, authorities said Sunday.

But Prince Thamer Ben Abdul Aziz Saud, 21-year-old brother of King Saud of Saudi Arabia, seemed cheerful and untroubled on the day of his death as he prepared to take his landlady and wife out to dinner.

The young prince set himself afire by pouring a coffee pot full of gasoline over his body and striking a match. He was found screaming in his flaming apartment by the landlady, Dr. F. H. Hanna.

Police termed the death a suicide, and a medical examiner said it apparently was based on an old Moslem custom. Dr. Joseph Davis said he understood it was "not unusual" for persons in the Middle East to kill themselves by fire.

Time In Hospital
Hospital authorities confirmed that young Aziz Saud had been under the care of psychiatrists for a number of months. He entered a Miami hospital in January for about 8 weeks of "psychiatric evaluation."

Doctors declined to discuss details of his illness, but the prince's landlady described him as a "very nice, but lonesome and moody boy."

"He didn't have many friends and he didn't go out very much, except sometimes to swim and play tennis," said Hanna. "Mostly, he kept to himself, watching television or reading."

"He didn't go out with a girl the whole 5 weeks he lived here," said the landlady.

Recent Birthday
The prince celebrated his 21st birthday last Sunday with a party given for him by the Hannas. In return, he asked the landlady and his family to accompany him for dinner at a local hotel Saturday night.

An hour before his death, he telephoned the hotel to confirm the reservations.

Hanna said he had talked to the prince in his luxurious apartment only 45 minutes before he killed himself.

The landlady discovered the fire when he returned to Aziz Saud's room to see if he was ready to go for a swim in Hanna's pool. Hanna smashed in the door with a poker and found the prince on the floor, his pajamas on fire. He died 20 minutes after being admitted to a hospital with burns over 90% of his body.

Hanna said the prince received about $13,000 a month allowance.

Voters OK Hawaiian Statehood

... Landslide Approval

Honolulu (AP) — Hawaii has voted itself into the Union. With a tidal wave of "yes" votes, this melting pot of the Pacific Saturday voted in a plebiscite for immediate statehood.

Complete returns, including revised and corrected figures, showed 132,938 votes approving statehood and 7,854 votes against. The ratio was 17-1.

The vote cleared the way for formal admission of the territory as the 50th state this summer, probably in August.

At the same time, islanders also set the stage to send an Oriental to Congress in their first state election July 28.

A primary election held in combination with the statehood referendum named party nominees for the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, for governor and for Hawaii's 76-seat first state legislature.

Three of the 6 candidates for Congress are of Japanese or Chinese descent.

The primary drew close to 85% of the 174,000 eligible voters. Democrats piled up far heavier votes than Republicans.

Printers Call End To Strike In K.C.

Kansas City (AP) — Printers Sunday ended a 10-day-old strike against the Kansas City Star and the Kansas City Kansan.

The printers, members of Local 80 of the International Typographical Union, voted 285-94 to accept pay increases of $3 weekly retroactive to Oct. 1, 1958, boosting the scale to $123.50 a week for day workers and $129 for night workers. A further increase of $4 weekly will become effective next Oct. 1.

The work week will remain 37½ hours.

Steel Talks Pace To Be Accelerated

New York (UPI) — Steel wage negotiations were resumed Sunday without the pressure of an immediate strike threat. Quick agreement was reached to put the talks on a stepped-up schedule.

The bargaining got under way again in a more relaxed atmosphere following President Eisenhower's personal intervention Saturday which brought a two-week extension of a strike deadline from midnight Tuesday until midnight, July 14.

The two top-level 4-man negotiating teams met for 75 minutes and recessed until Wednesday morning to allow time to take care of technical details in connection with the extension of union contracts with the 12 major companies and "to negotiate similar extensions with some 70 additional steel companies not represented in these negotiations," a joint industry-union statement said.

Ultimate Cause

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the steel industry, also issued a statement in which he said, "Many people believe if steel prices do not increase, even though there is a rise in employment costs, that inflation will have been checked."

"Nothing," he declared, "could be further from the truth." He contended that it was skyrocketing wages, not profits, which have forced prices up.

Ben-Gurion Gives Warning He May Quit Over Hassle

Jerusalem, Israel (UPI) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion Sunday threatened to resign if his coalition partners refuse to vote support for an arms deal with West Germany.

Ben-Gurion made the threat at a stormy cabinet session on the eve of a vote of confidence debate in the Knesset (parliament) on Israel's deal to sell West Germany 250,000 Israeli-made grenade throwers.

National religious organizations and the opposition Herut Party clamored that the deal offends Jewish conscience, recalling the massacre of Jews by Nazi Germany.

Ben-Gurion, staunchly insisting that the deal and others like it with the Bonn government are essential to Israel's economy, told his own party he would retire to his Negev retreat if his coalition partners failed to support him in the Knesset.

Royal Couple Attends Church

Kingston, Ont. (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II went to her first United Church of Canada service in 90-degree heat Sunday and heard a sermon on Christian humility.

The queen and Prince Philip, both willing from the heat and humidity during a 3-hour stop here en route from Brockville, Ont., to Toronto, worshipped with some 1,100 other persons in the Sydenham Street United Church.

Herbert Jehle, local supporter of Omaha Action said the group was told that the distribution was in violation of a city litter ordinance prohibiting the distribution of handbills on the street or littering of the streets.

Jehle said he was careful to pick up all loose handbills and expressed the opinion in behalf of the pacifists that the Lincoln ordinance contravenes the constitution of the United States in that it prohibits free speech and press.

"The Supreme Court has upheld the distribution of religious literature," he said. "Surely our appeal, quite religious in its wording, to mankind to avoid exterminating itself is within the law," he added.

Meanwhile, a group of about 40 pacifists gathered Sunday morning at a Mead ordinance plant gate for worship services.

Discussed after the services, Jehle said, was the role of non-violent intervention by the Free French against the Nazis during the occupation of France in World War II.

Growing Closer Together

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If anyone needs proof of the fact that the world, and with it the United States itself, is growing closer together, this proof can be found in proposals now pending before the House Government Operations subcommittee in Washington. Briefly, the subcommittee is considering 12 bills, each dealing with establishment of a new federal agency.

It would be the responsibility of this agency to co-ordinate metropolitan planning on a widespread scale. The agency would determine what areas the federal government would work in and how it could be of assistance. At first, at least, the agency would probably work in what are commonly known as interstate matters—transportation, trade, communications, stream pollution, etc. The concept of federal participation in community affairs was endorsed by the mayors of New York City and Seattle, Wash.

These cities, of course, have problems that are either peculiar because of their size or greatly magnified for this same reason. They have slum problems for which they have yet found no answer. They have social problems, traffic headaches, etc. Everything that Lincoln considers a problem, for instance, would be greatly magnified in both of these cities.

It is not clear exactly what it is that the federal government would do in any such program as this. But it would obviously step into any area when requested to on just about any subject. The arguments which are used in support of such a proposal are not new but merely are carried further.

This is the argument which sees our strength in numbers and sees the welfare of the individual tied directly to the welfare of the mass. It is not a fallacious argument in any sense but there is a question as to what extent it can be applied to all things. Judging from congressional action on the so-called states rights bill, any program of federal participation in previously local problems will meet with considerable opposition. Curiously enough, the states rights issue even saw Nebraska's two Democratic House members voting with a solid Republican majority and the southern Democratic bloc. But Representatives Brock and McGinley are coming to look more like Republicans every day. There would be nothing basically wrong with this except for the fact that they were elected as Democrats.

But perhaps the two representatives simply have not yet figured out what it was that caused their election. It would seem, however, that they could have concluded by now that it was not any Republican philosophy of conservatism. But the conflict over states rights and the pressure for additional federal activity coming from such large population centers as New York and Seattle are a sure sign that this issue will be a lasting battle.

The thinking of these large metropolitan centers might be a little easier to understand if broken down in the form of examples. Consider the difficulty Lincoln has in problems of annexation. It cannot control the fringe areas around the city because so many of these areas refused to be annexed.

It then has problems of traffic movement, school construction, utility development, etc. as a result of poorly planned development.

In the same way, the city and county have realized the necessity for co-operation by the formation of a joint planning commission. Law enforcement has always been and still is an example of need for greater over-all co-operation. The city of Lincoln itself is an example of the consolidation of various areas for the sake of greater efficiency and progress.

These are all things which show, on a minor scale, the thinking of the larger metropolitan areas. It is hard for any of us to deny that the reasoning is sound. Rather, we argue on a question of degrees. A city and its environs can become more integrated. A county and its cities may become more integrated. A state and its counties can do so to perhaps a little lesser degree. But for the federal government, it is taboo.

In The Interest Of Progress

Still A Wonderful Thing

Looked at in terms of surpluses, the wheat harvest now beginning has little romance and probably carries with it as many problems as it does blessings. But the gathering of the sun-ripened golden sheaves of grain is still a magnificent thing and an event for which we should all be thankful. It is one thing to have too much of something but it is quite another not to have enough.

The world is crowded with people who are suffering from the lack of food rather than any surplus. While our surplus does present us with economic problems, it can hardly be classed as anything but a blessing. How much more difficult would our situation be if it was a shortage which concerned us rather than a plenty. Some idea of this kind of plight can be gained by a look at China, India, Africa, Russia and many other countries.

These are places where the knowledge of hunger is acute, where production has been unable to meet demand. They are places where people have yet been unable to raise themselves to a level even of survival. Infant mortality rates are high, diseases which are hardly a concern here spell disaster in these areas. They lack the technical skills and sometimes the land in these places to produce the foodstuff their people need.

In contrast, the United States has conquered the evils of flood and drought, of nonfertility, of weak strains, of poor mechanization and other ravages of our past agricultural system. We have turned our land into an almost ever-normal granary and our pastures into lush fields of green. We have created an abundance which leaves us free from want and hunger. In doing so, we have created a new and different problem but it is certainly preferable to that which it replaces.

Point — will be contributing their substantial parts to the "crystal clear" name.

Back of it all, of course, is not just a story of clear water. The bigger story is one of water management and the conquest of soil erosion. If the Big Muddy a few years ago was hauling 142 million tons of silt past Sioux City, it was actually delivering the sovereign states of South and North Dakota to the Mississippi delta. Literally speaking, the bankside states were watching their regions go down the drain.

The rich, friable soils of the great central plains are especially subject to erosion and it is amazing that they have given away so much of their precious topsoil and still remain in production. The example of the Missouri Basin success is a great textbook that tells of a fabulously good future if midwesterners see to it that all of the creeks and rills, fieldside ditches and tributary rivers run crystal clear. Conservation is the region's greatest project.

came by the Communists as one who greatly assisted them during the years following World War II or will be shunned by society, deprived of freedom to apply his genius and persecuted for the rest of his days? Under Communism, there will be no choice for him — only the decision of government party officials.

There can be little sympathy for Fuchs as he knew the stakes were high in the game he was playing. Near the end, he began to realize that the road he had chosen to follow was one with little satisfaction but he knew he could never fully retrace his steps. Perhaps he felt some remorse, perhaps disgust, hatred or even fear but he showed none of them. Quietly he has served more than nine years in prison and has now slipped just as quietly into a life under Communism.

The sad part about Fuchs' case is just that the keenness of his mind was still unable to perceive a basic difference between right and wrong. He had a distorted sense of loyalty and integrity, even though his scientific skill was unique. Someplace along the line, he failed to grasp an essential ingredient of life. He lacked the perspective that would have made him a constructive part of society rather than a callous misfit in the orderly scheme of things.

It would seem that the lesson to be learned from his case is that there is more to life than just living. There is more to it than merely doing things well. Each individual must predicate the things he does upon certain principles of justice and consideration for his fellow man. He cannot be an isolationist, living without thought of those with whom he shares the world. Fuchs was an individualist wholly in conflict with life and the people around him.

Reds Make Most Of Ecuador Strife

WASHINGTON — As a result of Communist strength, shown during the Ecuadorian riots which cost 38 lives and forced the government to declare martial law, the full-dress Pan-American conference scheduled to be held in Quito next February may be moved to another country.

The Reds had nothing to do with starting the trouble. It was touched off by a mutiny of army conscripts in a coastal town. But when it spread to booming Guayaquil, Ecuador's major port and largest city, the Communies took over and fomented a fierce, night-long street battle between civilians and troops.

President Camilo Ponce restored uneasy peace with his martial-law decree. However, he has evidence that the Reds' role in these events was just a trial heat for bigger disturbances planned to coincide with the 21-nation conference.

Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric and second highest salaried businessman in the nation, got a letter the other day from James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, offering help.

"Somehow that's a disturbing figure — $399,999.50," wrote Carey, referring to Cordiner's salary. "It reflects a degree of cheapness and pettiness on the part of your employer; I mean the company's failure to add 50 cents — just four bits — to your income to round it off to an even $400,000."

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Line Between Indecency And Art

WASHINGTON — In barring from the mails the unpurged edition of the novel, "Lady Chatterly's Lover," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has put himself in the role of public arbiter over private morality.

Summerfield, who with Ezra Taft Benson is the only holdover from the original Eisenhower team, is a man of great moral earnestness. As postmaster general he has become familiar with the flood of pornography sent through commercial channels into every corner of the country.

It was a shocking discovery, as it must be to every innocent citizen, to learn that big-business methods and techniques have been applied to profit to the dissemination of smut. Summerfield says the volume is up to perhaps a half-billion dollars a year.

In a locked room adjoining his office the postmaster general has assembled a chamber of pornographic horrors. All the material, including several pornographic motion-picture films, was taken from the mails in the drive to stop the traffic which for a few exploiters apparently brings in very high profits.

Summerfield has shown a number of members of Congress through his chamber of horrors. Escorting the visitor around this display the postmaster general speaks with undisguised dismay and horror of the contribution he fears it is mak-

"For our part we think you deserve that additional four bits, the half buck more. Would you like to have someone negotiate this increase for you? We'll be glad to put our union's bargaining facilities at your disposal (signed) James B. Carey."

Time Magazine has started hostile investigations of the 11 senators who voted against Publisher Henry Luce's wife, Clare Boothe, as ambassador to Brazil. Gen. Curtis Le May, the Air Force's gruff vice chief, told reservists to their face the other day that they would be useless in case of war because they would never be ready in time. "Reserve officers are good only for answering telephones," he snorted. "The whole shooting match would be over in 30 days." . . . The whittled-down housing bill was the work of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson who pulled the economy strings inside the Senate-House conference. . . . while the Eisenhower administration is trying to raise interest rates on GI home loans, veterans can't get settlements on their home purchases. The banks are delaying the contracts until the interest goes up. . . . Metropolitan Opera Star Richard Tucker and Francis Cardinal Spellman, meeting at New York's La Guardia Airport the other day, swapped favors. The Cardinal agreed to arrange an audience with the Pope for the Jewish singer this summer in return for the first pressing of Tucker's latest recording.

Wonders Of The Universe

Space probe costs will be coming down.

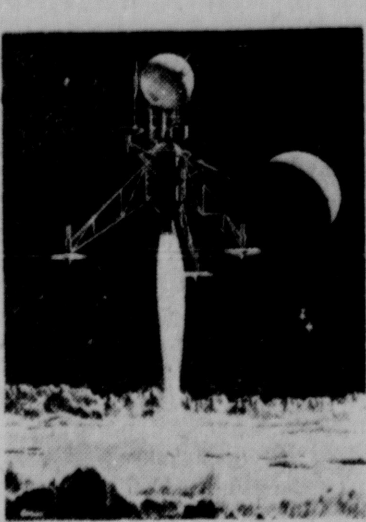

Leaders of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have been deeply concerned at the rising cost of satellite launchings. Now, Administrator Keith Glennon reports that a program is under way for almost immediate use of better, more powerful rockets.

This may not cut the space program budget by any considerable amount, but we'll be getting more for our space dollars by putting greater payloads into the sky with newer and more efficient rocket systems.

The program will start with a three-stage launching system called the Thor-Delta, of which 12 have been ordered from Douglas Aircraft. This rocket combination can put a 250-pound payload at an altitude of 300 miles at a cost of about $5,000 per pound.

About a year from now, Vega rockets will come under test. (Eight are on order.) This system, using a modified Atlas ICBM as a first stage, a modified Vanguard as a second stage and a new Allegheny Ballistic Laboratory solid propellant rocket (with a 6,000-pound thrust) as a third stage, may be able to put a 6,000-pound payload into orbit at a cost of $600 a pound.

Vega will be doubly significant because it will usher in the communications and reconnaissance satellites.

This projected Centaur rocket, which will be available early in 1961, will be equipped for a soft landing, providing us with undamaged instrumentation for lunar exploration. The powerful Centaur will also reduce the high cost of our space probes.

With this type of payload the moon can be put under careful scrutiny with the results relayed to earth by television techniques. The vehicle can also be used as a low-altitude satellite relay station and as a manned satellite orbiting the earth with a two-man payload.

Early in 1961, the Centaurs will come into operation. Again the first stage will be the Atlas ICBM. The second stage will contain a high-energy hydrogen-liquid oxygen engine, and a third stage will be again the 6,000-pound thrust solid fuel rocket.

This combination can put more than 8,000 pounds in a 300-mile orbit or establish a relay satellite on an equatorial orbit at an altitude of about 22,000 miles.

Project Centaur can put a 730-pound payload on the moon. This payload can be equipped to make a soft landing so the instrumentation for lunar exploration will be undamaged. Thus, within the next few years, the hardware to put a scientific payload on the moon will be within the reach of scientists.

These rocket systems also can be used for exploratory probes into deep space. Dr. Glennon estimates that a Juno II rocket system using the Jupiter C first stage with the scaled-down Sargents as the second, third and fourth might be suitable for long flights, but high cost would be a factor.

For such terribly expensive flights the estimated cost per pound of payload would be approximately $100,000. This may be one of the reasons why NASA is cutting back on this type of system. For the same mission using the Thor-Delta combination, the cost comes down to about $50,000 per pound. Or, it can impact 100 pounds on the moon at about $25,000 per pound. The Vega system will bring the cost down to about $3,200 per pound.

QUESTION OF WEEK: IS THE PROPOSED FISHING AND BOATING LAKE NEAR WILBER OF SUFFICIENT BENEFIT TO THIS AREA FOR LINCOLN TO HELP IN THE RAISING OF THE $10,000 LOCAL CONTRIBUTION NEEDED TO ASSURE THE PROJECT?

Railroad Subsidy

Lancaster, Pa.

Although I have written previously concerning the deteriorating railroad passenger service in this country, the recent announcement that the Pennsylvania Railroad will discontinue all passenger service to Detroit, Michigan, on July 26 has prompted me to write once more. Although the New York Central still provides service from New York to Detroit, there will be no more service from Philadelphia and other important cities to Detroit. Thus, one more link in the railroad passenger network is lost.

Since the Transportation Act of 1958, which gives the Interstate Commerce Commission increased power in deciding abandonment cases and reduces the power of the State Public Utility Commissions, there has been an increase in the number of applications by railroads to discontinue passenger service. In each case, the railroad claims that it is losing money on the train or trains it wants to discontinue, and in too many cases the abandonment is permitted.

As each link in the rail passenger network is abandoned, the tendency will be for the country to have isolated groups of railroads, not connected, and therefore of little value to the country as a whole. The rail network as a whole should be considered, and permission to discontinue service not be given so freely, even if individual trains or lines operate at a loss.

The government should subsidize the passenger service to help it compete with other transportation services, all of which are directly or indirectly subsidized. I do not think a subsidy is desirable or necessary for freight service, as most railroads seem to believe they could operate profitably if they were allowed to get out of the passenger business. Some cities are beginning to take an interest in the commuter problem, and are starting to help commuter railroads in their areas. This is good, as far as it goes, but it is not enough, as the rail passenger service is a nationwide problem and should be helped by the federal government.

Persons who are interested in seeing the rail passenger network in the United States kept intact should write their congressmen urging a subsidy for this service.

The Deadline

Lincoln, Neb.

Let's renew the old practice of ringing the bell on straw hats worn after Labor Day; of tossing them from the grandstand into the infield at the Labor Day ball game, and of wrecking the straws of any friends caught wearing them thereafter. This will bring prosperity to the hat industry, and who wants to wear last year's straw, anyhow?

Spring's milder days have come and gone, and summer's here and the heat is on. So now it's time for me to do my annual sailor straw. No sailors, please, with new snap-brims! I don't indulge those faddists.

In various colors, shapes and trims, distinguishing fashion's law. With crown so flat and brim so straight be it in style or out-of-date. I never even hesitate that sailor straw to choose.

Let others wear the passing fads portrayed in all the haters' ads. I'll stick to sailors like my dad's, which faddists will refuse.

When sounds the gong on Labor Day, which warns you, "Throw that straw away." You'll know for sure that it's passe to wear it on the street. If in that hat you come in sight, they'll wreck it good with all their might. For that shall be the vested right of every friend you meet.

Doctor Advises Ike: Walk At Golf

NEW YORK—People . . . Places . . . Things . . .

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist who took care of President Eisenhower after his first attack, keeps tarty in touch with his distinguished patient by means of mutual friends.

To a friend who was about to fly to Augusta to golf with the President, Dr. White said, "Tell him to get rid of that golf cart and get out there and walk. He'll live ten years longer if he does."

Jack Dempsey was given a surprise 64th birthday party at Trader Vic's the other night. The Mauler, who looked good enough to have taken on both Patterson and Johansson, was pleased as a kid with his first cake.

Dempsey made $5,000,000 with his fists during his years in the ring but today he remains enormously grateful for the smallest favors. The reaction is a throwback to the terrible privation of his early days. When his chief method of travel was via freights and brake-rods and, for food, it was a saloon's free lunch—after he had snatched a beer from in front of a talkative drunk.

Jack first came to New York 43 years ago, with a busted nose, a roll-neck sweater and a semi-shaved head. He and his then manager shared a hall bedroom near the Polo Grounds. For a time, they moved to a succession of park benches. Nobody wanted him, the greatest piece of fighting machinery of our age.

It would be quite a switch, wouldn't it, if Dr. Klaus Fuchs now contacted one of our "secret agents" in East Germany and offered to supply us with information on the latest Soviet atomic development?

Nutty as that sounds, Fuchs is capable of such a gesture. Part of the original defense of this atomic spy was that he thought it was unfair for us to deprive the rest of the world, specially Russia, of our atomic knowledge. He left prison with no more of a guilt complex than he brought there.

First Day Of Nuclear War Would Kill 43,000 In State

Washington (AP)—The Office of Civil Defense and mobilization estimated Friday that in the event of a nuclear attack about 43,000 Nebraskans would be killed on the first day and 47,000 would be fatally injured. About 84,000 additional injured would survive. These estimates were based

Air Show Held Despite Hail

North Platte, Neb. (UPI)—North Platte held its Air Fair Sunday, despite the fact that the Convair which was to take place in the ceremonies was badly damaged by hail Saturday night.

Hailstones as large as baseballs pounded the Grand Island airport.

The Air Fair was held to observe the end of air service by United Air Lines and to welcome the new Frontier Service.

A massive Strategic Air Command KC-97 flying tanker was to be on display at the airport and the Nebraska Air National Guard staged a fly-over.

on a population figure of 1,325,000 for Nebraska.

The estimates did not specify an attack on any particular city or area, but presumably, Omaha and the adjoining Strategic Air Command headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base, the Lincoln Air Force Base, and the various ordnance installations and missile sites would be potential targets.

Nebraska is part of Civil Defense Region 6, consisting of Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wyoming.

The area has a population of 11,724,000 people. Of this number it was estimated that 464,000 would die on the first day, 514,000 would be fatally injured and another 534,000 would be injured but would survive.

Hole In Coin Trips Youths

Plattsmouth, Neb. (AP)—Two Plattsmouth teenagers were in jail Sunday because of a 50 cent piece with a hole in it.

Cass County Sheriff Tom Solomon said the two, 17-year-old Paul E. Brown and 18-year-old Lee A. Shipley, will be charged in connection with six break-ins at Union, Neb., early Saturday.

Solomon said the 50 cent piece belonged to Howard Snodgrass whose store was broken into at Union.

The two boys, who admitted the burglaries, took the coin among others from the cash register and later used it to pay for their breakfast in a Union cafe, the sheriff said.

The cafe operator gave the half dollar to a bread man who later used it to pay a bill at the Snodgrass store. Snodgrass recognized the punctured coin and it was traced back.

Syas Asks Juvenile Court Study To Determine Needs

Sen. George Syas of Omaha has asked the Nebraska Bar Association to conduct a study over the state to determine the "wants and needs concerning Juvenile Court Districts" over the state.

Syas directed his request to Kearney attorney Joseph Tye, president of the Nebraska Bar Association.

The Omaha senator noted that the Juvenile Court bill passed by the 1959 Legislature was amended so that it applied only to Lincoln and Omaha, but noted that "voters of the whole state" approved the constitutional amendment authorizing such courts.

"The mandate of the people should not be ignored," Syas said, adding that "it seems logical that some preparation must be made for the setting up of Juvenile Courts and/or Juvenile Court Districts throughout the state."

Syas said it seems "sensible" that a "thorough study by qualified persons, familiar with court systems, would produce findings that will enable effective legislation to be formulated."

The Omaha senator said it was "disappointing that this was not done prior to this session so the desires of the people of the entire state could be recognized and not just those of Omaha and Lincoln."

Brock Wants Immediate Stop To Meat Imports

Washington (UPI)—Rep. Lawrence Brock (D-Neb) has called for an immediate halt to the practice of importing livestock and red meats into the United States.

Brock said today that the gigantic 1959 pig crop, plus the continued importation of livestock and red meats "will gut the domestic market in the coming December-January period."

"A series of telephone conversations with recognized agricultural economists in both Washington and Chicago have confirmed my previously announced fears for a price collapse in the domestic hog market late this year," the Nebraska congressman said.

Brock said the only solution to help avert the drastic low market is to halt immediately the importing of livestock and red meats into this country.

Tractor Power-Safety Day Scheduled For Ag Campus

The University of Nebraska's annual Tractor Power and Safety Day is scheduled for July 23, at the Ag Campus.

The event is sponsored by the department of agricultural engineering. The special day for farmers every year draws the largest number of persons to the Ag Campus for a single event, according to Lloyd Hurlbut, chairman of the ag engineering department.

Among the events listed by the department for the 1959 program are:

- Parade of new, track-type tractors, including a Fiat model, manufactured in Italy.
- Demonstrations of tractors with new transmissions; a radio controlled tractor and a large, track type tractor.
- Display of haymaking machines, minimum tillage equipment for corn and sorghum and a pelleting machine.
- Procession of new wheel-type tractors tested at the university's Tractor Testing Laboratory, including German and Italian models.

—A look at a new automatic guide system for tractors.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m. Parades and demonstrations are planned for the mall in front of the Ag Engineering Building and the tractor test track.

Amos, and Jack Eugene Nispel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Nispel of Ogallala. The Rev. Keith Shepherd read the lines of the service, and Dr. Charles Tritt played the wedding music.

Miss Lois Puckett, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Jo Shepherd, wore identical frocks of pink organza with cummerbunds of white lace. They carried lace fans ornamented with pink Marguerite daisies. Sandra and Steve Essman were the ringbearers.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta for her wedding. A shoulder-wide portrait neckline, framed with scallops, slipped into the brief sleeves of the fitted lace bodice, and the voluminous floor-length skirt was fashioned of tiers of lace-edged ruffles. Her veil was held in place with a lace crown, patterned with seed pearls, and she carried a double ring of pink rosebuds joined with white orchids.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nispel are graduates of Nebraska Wesleyan University where the bride is a member of Phi Mu sorority, and Mr. Nispel of Phi Kappa Tau.

Following a honeymoon trip to Jackson Hole, Wyo., Mr. Nispel and his bride will reside in Superior where Mrs. Nispel will be a member of the high school faculty, and where the bridegroom will be employed as a chemist.

Miss Kathryn Fitzekam of Omaha, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Turnbull, Gering, wore frocks of silk parchment in the maize tone fashioned with full, daytime-length skirts, and carried yellow and white Majestic daisies.

Serving as best man was Louis Scholz of Mitchell, brother of the bride, and the ushers were John Sears, Colby, Kan., Gary Hilyard and Fred Schneider, Mitchell.

Her short veil of illusion was held by a Mary, Queen of Scots, brim of lace and pearls, and she carried pale yellow roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Following a wedding trip to Central City, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. McKeown will make their home in Lincoln where both are seniors at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Newman Club, and Mr. McKeown is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

long sleeves narrowed to a slender waist above the exceedingly voluminous skirt created of deep tiers of tulle. A pearl-encrusted crown held in place her chapel length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

Following the reception Mr. Morrison and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to the Rocky Mountains. They will return to McCook where they will reside at 511 E. 1st St., until September when they will go to Denver.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Mortar Board. Mr. Morrison is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He will continue his study of law at Denver University next year, and Mrs. Morrison will be a speech therapist in the public schools.

At 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, June 28, the marriage of Miss Joyce Cecile Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Edwin Garrison, to Donald Ralph Rixstine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Rixstine, took place in the chapel of the East Lincoln Christian Church. The Rev. Raymond L. Alber read the lines of the service before a background of white gladioli and greenery. The wedding music was played by John Cole who also accompanied the vocal soloists, Miss Charlene Fankhauser and Orville Monroe.

Frocks of pale pink net and taffeta were worn by the attendants who were the bride's sister, Miss Janice Hatfield, as the maid of honor, and Miss Anna Marie Gilmore, the bridesmaid. Each carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations with coral accents. Miss Barbara Rixstine, sister of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Douglas Rixstine served his brother as best man, and the usher was Eddie Lusardi.

The bride appeared in a ballerina-length gown of white lace over taffeta. The smoothly sculptured bodice was designed with a scoop neckline, and the bouffant skirt was caught into back fullness of a modified bustle with a bow of white satin. A tiara of seed pearls held in place her veil of illusion and she carried a crescent bouquet of white feathered carnations.

Mr. Rixstine and his bride will make their home in Key West, Fla., where Mr. Rixstine is stationed with the Navy attending fleet sonar school.

Mrs. Rixstine is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Fellow nurses of Mrs. Daryl Irmer were entertained when she was hostess at a coffee at her home Wednesday morning.

Spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Broman were Mr. Broman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bramble, and their four children, Linda, Theresa, Susan, and Tommy, of Hastings.

Coming from LeRoy, Minn., to spend a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lude-

Celebrating her eighth anniversary Friday afternoon was Miss Sharon Tanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tanner. Seven guests shared ice cream and cake at the Tanner home.

Another look at our birthday book tells us that Miss

Lynda Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zimmerman, also entertained her friends at her home Friday afternoon. Several guests were invited to the games.

Mention of Mrs. Ward reminds us that a family reunion for the three Ward brothers was held yesterday. Coming from Portland, Ore., to stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward were Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Ward and their daughter, Penny. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Don Ward and their daughter, Gayle Ann arrived from Mitchell.

Dear Abby . . .

There Certainly Is!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm afraid there is something wrong with my husband. He thinks everybody is trying to put something over on him. He holds up traffic on a toll bridge counting his change three and four times and you know those boys never try to cheat you. He makes everybody give him a receipt for as little as a dime. He spends hours adding up his bills looking for an error (he has never found any) and his suspicious nature is driving me crazy. He never was like this, Abby. It all started about a year ago. Is there anything I can do about it? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Get your husband to a doctor!

When a person begins to imagine that everyone is trying to "put something over on him"—eventually someone does: A butterfly net.

DEAR ABBY: Can a person be in love with two people at the same time? I think I am. I am 20 years old, Abby, and am considered a smart girl, but this has me baffled. I fell in love with Bob No. One during my freshman year at college. Last summer I met Bob No. Two, and we fell in love with each other at first sight. I still love Bob No. One when I am with him, but the minute I see Bob No. Two I feel that I love him, also. Each wants me to stop seeing the other but I can't make up my mind which Bob I love more. I think I love them both. Is this possible?

IN LOVE WITH TWO BOBS
DEAR IN: You've got Bob fever. Don't call this "love" . . . and don't make any permanent decisions now. There are lots of Bobs you haven't met yet.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. L.: It is better to love a short man than never to have loved a tall one. Reconsider.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Dodgers Blast Friend Again In Winning 7th Straight, 9-4

Three Home Runs Pace LA Offense

Los Angeles (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers knocked out luckless Bob Friend with a 5-run 4th inning Sunday and extended their winning streak to 7 games by belting Pittsburgh 9-4.

Lefthander Danny McDevitt picked up his 4th straight victory with a 9th inning assist from Don Drysdale as the Dodgers hung on to second place, a game back of Milwaukee. The Dodgers have won 12 of 15 games on their present home stand.

SENATORS SHOVE A'S TO CELLAR

Kansas City (AP)—Harmon Killebrew and Jim Lemon batted in 3 runs apiece Sunday as the Washington Senators defeated the Kansas City Athletics 7-3 and climbed back over the A's into 7th place in the American League.

Killebrew got a double and a single in 5 trips and boosted his RBI total to 59. Lemon drove in his runs on a single and a sacrifice fly.

Russ Kemmerer pitched an 8-hitter and went all the way to record his 5th victory against 6 losses. He ran into serious trouble only in the 8th, when the A's scored two runs on 3 hits.

Howard Reed, a young righthander recalled from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, made his first start of the season for the A's and suffered the loss. He worked 6 innings, during which he gave up 3 runs and 7 hits.

The loss was the 12th for the A's in their last 16 starts.

DETROIT (AP)—Charlie Maxwell delivered his customary Sunday punch in support of Don Mossi's steady pitching, and the Detroit Tigers rolled to a 7-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles Sunday, earning a split in a 4-game series.

Maxwell hit his 16th home run with a man on base in the 3rd inning. It was the 9th time he has hit a home run on Sunday, and this one helped the Tigers overcome an early Baltimore lead.

Mossi tantalized the Orioles with a mixture of breaking stuff, sailing home with a 6-hitter for his 6th victory.

The Tigers meanwhile banged away at home town product Milt Pappas, scoring all their runs off the former Detroit high school pitcher. Pappas, a 20-year-old right

The Dodgers' winning streak is the longest in the National League so far this season.

Don Demeter slammed his 17th homer for Los Angeles and Gil Hodges got his 13th and ran his hitting streak to 13 games. Charlie Neal got his 9th homer.

Friend, unable to complete a game against the Dodgers in his last 8 tries, was tagged for an unearned run in the second inning. Demeter scored on Jim Gilliam's sacrifice fly after advancing two bases on Bill Virdon's error in center field.

In the 4th, Hodges led off with a double and scored on Demeter's homer. Johnny Roseboro followed with a single. The rally was kept alive when Neal's blooper dropped in for a hit after Bill Mazeroski apparently lost it in the sun. Neal scored along with Gilliam when Wally Moon doubled off the left field screen.

Hodges hit his homer with the bases empty in the 5th and Neal got his with McDevitt aboard in the 8th.

The Pirates got their first run in the second, when Bob Skinner reached base on a forceout and scored on Mazeroski's double.

The Pirates got two runs in the 8th, one unearned.

Error Beats Cubs; Logan Is Spiked

Braves' Pizarro Hurls 5-Hit Victory

Milwaukee (AP)—Juan Pizarro, recalled from Louisville only 5 days ago, held the Chicago Cubs to 5 hits Sunday as the Milwaukee Braves won the rubber game of the 3 game series, 2-1, before 32,884.

All of the scoring was done in the 4th inning, and the margin of Pizarro's first victory was Dale Long's error on a pop foul.

After Eddie Mathews matched the Cubs' run with his 23rd home run, Wes Covington singled and Joe Adcock walked. Long dropped Del Crandall's foul, then Crandall singled to score Covington with what proved to be the winning run.

Dave Hillman, who had pitched one hit ball until that inning, was the victim of Long's decisive miscue. After Crandall got his game winning hit, Hillman walked Mel Roach to fill the bases and then was replaced by Don Elston, who retired Felix Mantilla to end the inning.

Elston and Bill Henry blanked the Braves the rest of the day, but the Cubs were unable to break through against Pizarro. The Puerto Rican left-hander struck out 7 and walked the same number, pitching his way out of several jams, to balance his record at 1-1. He had lost one game before being farmed out.

Climaxes Due At Wimbledon

Wimbledon, England (AP)—The 73rd Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships head into their climactic second week here today, with husky Barry MacKay and bouncy Darlene Hard guarding American hopes for the top titles.

Both face severe trials from the quarterfinals in an unpredictable field scarred by big upsets in each division.

After the first week of play, 6 men and 6 women seeds survived the early rounds.

Top-seeded Alex Olmedo holds the fancy of the fans after playing with style and confidence in his 3 previous matches. Luis Ayala of Chile looks to be his main threat.

On the distaff side, Maria Bueno of Brazil and Angela Mortimer of Britain shape up as most likely to reach the girls' finals.

Game Shows Stress

Fifth-seeded MacKay, the big serve and volley man from Dayton, O., was the only American to reach the final 8, but his game was showing stresses and strains.

Miss Hard, from Montebello, Calif., coasted easily into the women's quarterfinals and appeared set for at least a semifinal spot.

Darlene, the 4th seed, was joined by another American girl, Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., who has had several narrow squeaks in proceeding through the pack.

Sally will have to raise her game a notch or two to make the final.

In men's quarterfinals today, MacKay will meet second-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia. A lot will depend on whether the American's cannon ball serve goes in on the first time.

Olmedo vs. Ayala

The main match, however, will be the center court battle between the two South American stars, Olmedo and Ayala.

Olmedo's game has impressed the crowd more than any other, and he is showing none of the weaknesses that marked his pre-Wimbledon play. Ayala has hit top form, too.

Other men's quarterfinals are Jean-Claude Molinari of France vs. Rod Laver of Australia, and Roy Emerson of Australia vs. Bobby Wilson of Britain.

Denverite Leads Pack At Hastings

Hastings (AP)—Ted A. Hart of Denver shot a 174 to win the KHAS-TV open golf tournament Sunday.

Bob Veylupek of Englewood, Colo., Bud Williamson of Lincoln, and Wally Hopp of Hastings, tied for second with 178. In a playoff Veylupek was first, Williamson second and Hopp 3rd.

Tony Novitsky, Cheyenne, Wyo., was 5th shooting a 179. He was the medalist in qualifying play with a 68, 4 under par.

Others finishing in the money were Earl Wilde, Rock Island, Ill., 6th with 180; Merle Backlund, Casper, Wyo., 7th 181; Art Severson Colorado Springs, Colo. 8th 182, and Al Blessing, Hastings, 9th, 184.

First prize was a station wagon.

First flight winner was J. D. Taylor of Denver. Bill Hird of Fort Dodge, Iowa, won the second flight, and T. J. Conavan, Omaha, won the 3rd flight.

Tolly's One-Hit Job Peps Moose Victory

Nebraska athlete Harry Tolly pitched one-hit ball and struckout 13 Eagles batsmen Sunday as the Lincoln Moose Club claimed a 13-1 victory at Mundy diamond.

Moose 13 2 2 0—13 15 1
